RE: Statement regarding GMO, EU- Regulation 1829/2003 and 1830/2003

GoodMills Innovation GmbH neither uses gentechnology procedures for the production of their products nor are genetically modified organism used or produced. It is the mission of our company to not use foodstuffs or food ingredients for foodstuffs that have been genetically modified.

Our suppliers are therefore strictly obliged for the delivery of raw materials that do not have any obligation for labelling according to above mentioned regulations.

Our Soy and maize flour are purchased from suppliers that can verify the conventional origin of the products with approved NON-GMO-Systems and accompanying analytical monitoring.

On the basis of our current valid production formulations and currently available information from our suppliers of raw materials we only use ingredients for above stated products that are:

- not subjected to a duty of GMO-labelling according to the EC regulations (EC) 1829/2003 and 1830/2003 in their present version.

Should this current position change in the future, we would inform you according to the legal guidelines for the traceability of GMO foodstuffs and animal feed.

GoodMills Innovation GmbH will always comply with the effectual European and National legal regulations for genetically modified foodstuffs.

Please do not hesitate to contact us any time should you have further questions.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely
